RMS holds Seminar Workshop on writing publishable articles

The RMS Office spearheaded a seminar workshop on writing publishable articles on February 20-21. Participants of the seminar workshop were 27 faculty researchers who represented each of the completed externally or institutionally funded research studies and projects of the University.

Lectures were delivered by selected resources speakers: Dr. Shirley G. Cabrera, Dr. Anacleto M. Caringal, Dr. Romel U. Briones, Dr. Jayvee A. Saco, and Dr. Cristina Amor A. Rosales.

During the workshop proper on journal search and writing publishable articles, the participants were given the opportunity to revise their completed papers based on the prescribed format of their selected journals.

One of the faculty researchers, Ms. Cristina Geron, presents her paper to the lecturers.

During the output presentation of the participants, the resource speakers also gave them recommendations and comments for the improvement of their articles.
